

We open our hearts...

In these winter days,

we open our hearts to all that disturbs us...

and delights us...

we open our hearts to all that

comforts us...

and challenges us...

we open our hearts to that of which life reminds us...

and reveals to us...

and pray that in opening our hearts

Love is let loose in the world

Love links us in our needs and our offerings

Love lures us more fully into life.

We pray to Love,

the ever-present Love

we call God.
